

ECHOES OF SNOWLIGHT

The poetry of prelude dresses the Living Divani Gallery

White caresses the windows, red warms the gaze: in Living Divani Gallery, the prelude of the winter holidays becomes an atmosphere. With the arrival of the year's most "luminous" season, the space is enveloped in a suggestive aura thanks to a renewed installation that introduces festive touches—discreet yet impactful—dialoguing with the existing collections.

Without disrupting the harmony of the ambience, the redress focuses on selected details that reinterpret the Christmas palette through the materials and finishes of the Living Divani proposal. Accents of red emerge as guiding threads: the lacquering of the Era Table top, the precious Rosso Levanto marble on the Kasumi Low Table, and a selection of fabrics in the warmest shades enveloping the Maja D small armchairs at the entrance, the soft cushions of the Fillet lounge chairs, and the elegant upholstery of the Raki armchair, paired with the Pebble vanity.

The magic of snow enters gently through the windows, where delicate decals depict stylized flakes: a motif that echoes across decorative panels on the walls, creating a fil rouge that guides the visitor.

"Echoes of Snowlight" is an invitation to experience the Gallery as a suspended space, where design, material, and atmosphere intertwine to convey a new sensitivity: essential and authentic.

"In Living Divani Gallery, every layout becomes a poetic gesture that engages in dialogue with our collections, without interrupting their aesthetic, but enriching it with new emotions. This is our way of celebrating winter: with elegance, restraint, and the subtlety that has always distinguished Living Divani."

— Carola Bestetti, CEO Living Divani